ALL THAT SHIMMER
 (glitter with the best of us) at the time, the idea of a woman's face being adorned with glitter was a little bit taboo. But as the years went by,
 it became a way for women to express their creativity and to have fun. It's a way to be different and to stand out. It's a way to be beautiful.

CALL OF THE WILD

Photographer David Yarrow travels to the ends of the earth to create majestic images of our ever-shrinking natural habitats and raise funds for conservation. Ahead of the publication of a monograph featuring 150 of his most enchanting photographs, he let Bazaar tag along on a trip to Jack's Camp, on the edge of Botswana's Makgadikgadi Pans. This glittering expanse of sun-scorched salt flats is home to the San people, who have lived in harmony with elephants, meerkats, and other fauna for thousands of years.

Right now, there is a fashion frenzy with designers and retailers working at a rapid pace to keep up with the incessant call for new garments and faster turnaround. In response to this, we've stepped back. This month, we're looking at garments that can stand the test of time, that go beyond temporary fads and remain stylish year after year. We show you how to conquer the all-white winter look and then how to update classic black pieces in your wardrobe with a flash of metallic. Finally, we urge you to spend a little more on local design. All the designers we've featured are young, but no less talented than the industry veterans. Keep your eyes on them, they're doing great things.
