SUN PROTECTION • SELF-TANNING • HAIR REMOVAL

1 LOAD UP ON LOTION (OR SPRAY)
If you spread sunscreen too thin, you won't get the promised protection. Every time you apply, use at least 1 ounce of lotion (a golf ball-sized blob in total). If you use a pump spray, 1 ounce is about 200 sprays (one quarter of a 4-ounce bottle). For a continuous spray, 1 ounce is about 25 seconds of spraying.

2 REMEMBER TO REAPPLY Obviously you have to put on more sunscreen after you burn or get sweaty. But most people don't realize you need a fresh application—another full ounce, not just a touch-up—every two hours to stay protected. That's because the active ingredients in sunscreen can start to break down the minute the sun hits them.
